

INWELLNESS

creating healthy communities

"We're about getting people to understand the roots of health. Health is more than getting fixed in the doctor's office. Health is a way of being alive"

Robert F. Lehman

"There is no question that the things we think have a tremendous effect upon our bodies. If we can change our thinking, the body frequently heals itself."

C. Everett Koop, M.D.

Former surgeon general of the United States

To Milwaukee area health and wellness providers,

You are invited to learn how our innovative provider association can:

- Promote your services to the Milwaukee community with direct and web based ads
- Include your services in employee benefits and wellness programs
- Associate your services with our lifestyle education and entertainment initiatives
- Enhance your services through collegial information sharing

InWellness provides you with all these options and much more...

Come to one of our Informational sessions or call us for more information 414-434-7031.

It's time to support one another.

InWellness,
Jim Morningstar, Ph.D., IW Coordinator
